

2nd World Congress of Agroforestry

23-28 August 2009, Nairobi, Kenya!

If you have not yet registered for the Congress, please do so NOW as time is running out.

The Global Organizing Committee has an exciting program and an impressive list of high-profile speakers that will make this Congress doubly attractive. Two Nobel Prize Laureates—Professor Wangari Maathai and Dr. Rajendra K. Pachauri—as well as world-famous paleoanthropologist and conservationist, Dr. Richard Leakey will all be making keynote addresses during the Congress.

The Congress will assess opportunities that will leverage agroforestry science and development to promote sustainable land use worldwide. Through keynote presentations, symposia and technical sessions, Congress participants will explore how agroforestry is making contributions to the global challenges of food security, climate change, biodiversity conservation and human health.

The three themes of the Congress are:

- Food Security and Livelihoods
- Conservation and Rehabilitation of Natural Resources
- Policies and Institutions

The 2nd World Congress of Agroforestry will provide a global forum for agroforestry professionals to share knowledge, experiences and ideas, and to plan future strategies in agroforestry research, education and training of knowledge-sharing initiated during the 1st World Congress of Agroforestry held in 2004 in Florida, USA.

Register now by visiting the Congress website www.worldagroforestry.org/wca2009

The website also provides more information on Side Events, Exhibitions and Field Trips. If you have any enquiries, or need assistance with the registration process, or to plan your trip, please email us wca2009@cgiar.org
